Mrs. Mary Morris, of Washington Avenue, has sold her place to a gentleman from Belleville. She will hereafter reside in Newark, on Mount Pleasant Avenue.

Through the efforts of the Reform Club all applications from Bloomfield for saloon and hotel license made last Monday were laid over until April 10th, when the charges will be heard by the Court.

A regular meeting of the Trustees of the Fire Association was held Monday evening. The lease of a building on Bloomfield Ave. for the use of the Hose Company was ratified, and four new members were elected. The new alarm bell is expected about April 15th.

John Hemstreet, of Doddtown, was struck by a train on the Orange Branch, at Glenwood Avenue crossing last Thursday morning, receiving fatal injuries. He was taken to Orange and removed to the Newark Hospital.

Rev. Frederick von Schumbach addressed the students at the Seminary on Thursday last from 5 to 6 p. m., and preached in the German Church in the evening. He is the gentleman who has charge of the German work of the Y. M. C. A.

An Executive Committee of seven were appointed by the Reform Club on Saturday evening, consisting of the following named gentlemen: F. R. Batchelder, A. H. Olmstead, J. L. Walsh, Jos. Eveland, Nathan Russell, Samuel Peloubet, and John Sanderson.

Do not fail to be present at the First Presbyterian Church on Monday evening, April 7th, to hear the Lecture of Miss Lydia Von Finklestein on the "Homes and Resorts of Jesus." She will appear in picturesque Oriental costume, and be assisted by her brother in illustrating the manners and customs of the natives of Palestine.

The concluding lecture of the Seminary Lectures (Winter course) will be delivered by the President of the Seminary, Rev. Chas. E. Knox, D. D., on Monday evening, April 8th. The subject is "Theories of Education," a theme which should decidedly interest our citizens in view of the present active discussion of school topics among us.

Mrs. James Adams, living on the corner of Thomas Street and Linden Avenue, was a trifle surprised a few days ago to find that a paper which had been used to close a flue opening in the chimney had caught fire and fallen to the floor, burning a large hole in the carpet. Moral: Close stove pipe holes with a tin, and save the carpet.

M. C. Burdick, of Montgomery Street, who keeps some handsome Brahama fowls which he values at $3 each, found a large quantity of Paris green scattered around his yards a few days ago; since that time seven of his choice fowls have died from the effects of the poison. Mr. Burdick says he cannot imagine what scoundrel could have served him so contemptible a trick.

On Tuesday evening Herman Thierfelder, keeping a saloon at the foot of the Planes, appeared before Justice Hageman and made complaint that his saloon had been broken into and a lot of cigars, tobacco and canned articles stolen therefrom. Up to this writing no trace of the stolen articles has been discovered. Last fall the same place was broken into by two canal boatmen, who were sent to State Prison.

A reunion of the Young People's Literary Society of the M. E. Church will be held in the church parlor on Monday evening next; as business of importance will be brought before the meeting a full attendance is requested. A programme of entertaining exercises has been arranged for the evening. A number of persons who have recently connected themselves with the church will be admitted into the society.

Last Monday morning Mr. Theo. Cadmus left his carpenter shop for a moment, and on returning found a pile of shavings burning in the middle of the floor. He at once called Mr. E. Ludlow from the depot, who brought a pail of water and extinguished the fire. In the meantime, an alarm had been given from the Truck House, and several firemen ran over with an extinguisher, but fortunately their services were not needed. Mr. Cadmus says there was no fire in the shop, neither had he been smoking. He thinks he must have stepped on a match in leaving the shop.

Among the addresses to be delivered before the Teachers' Institute, we notice the following: "Conservatism in Teaching," by Prof. Randall Spaulding; "Illiteracy and National Aid to Education," by State Supt. E. A. Apgar; "The Russian-English Question," by Mr. P. W. Lyon; "Moral and Spiritual Elements in the Teaching of Secular Knowledge," by Prof. D. S. Martin; "Pupils Outside of School," by Mr. V. L. Davey. Meetings were held yesterday, in the morning, afternoon and evening. The closing sermon takes place to-day at 9 o'clock, at the Centre School House.

The Temperance Work.

BRIEF REPORT OF MEETINGS HELD DURING THE PAST WEEK.

Mr. George R. Scott, of the New York Weekly Witness, addressed a large audience in Library Hall last Friday evening on the subject of Prohibition. His remarks were listened to attentively, and were frequently applauded. He said: "My first impression when I landed in this country was that people drink too much, and I think so still." He related several thrilling stories about the downfall of men of his acquaintance by the use of strong drink, and urged absolute prohibition as the only means of wiping out this terrible scourge of our land. He said: "When the legislatures pass laws to protect the dog, cat, horse, cow, bird and fish, is it not time they pass prohibitory laws to protect our homes?" At the close of the meeting a number of signers were secured to the Pledge and Reform Club. A Union Temperance meeting was held in the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon, under the auspices of the Reform Club and Woman's Christian Temperance Union. The first speaker was Mr. Plank, of Silver Lake, who said: "For 23 years I was drunkard. I know the dark side of your story and the many temptations you have to battle with among your old companions, and it is only through the help of God that you will be able to successfully battle with the monster. My reformation was due to the Woman's Christian Temperance Union as instruments in the hands of God, in answer to the prayers of my good wife, while yours is due to the efforts of Messrs. Mabee and English, as instruments of God in answer to the prayers of your mothers, sisters and wives." Vice-President Biddulph gave a few facts about the amount of money spent for liquor annually in our town. He was followed by Rev. S. Hartwell Pratt, of New York, who spoke for half an hour, giving a graphic picture of the downward career of the drinking man, from moderate drinking to the drunkard's grave, asylum, poor house or jail. He further said: "The bar-tenders who on other Sundays have dealt out to you reformed men the deadly poison to-day laying plans to entrap you. But put yourselves in the hands of Jesus, and He will, in his own way, remove the foe—your appetite for liquor—from you." The singing was well conducted, and, as on all other like occasions, the number of signers to the pledge was materially increased.

The ladies of the W. C. T. U. met for the first time in the evening, in the room set apart for their use last week. Twelve from Newark were present to assist and encourage the new workers in the temperance cause. It was a full meeting and the organization was completed. The officers chosen were: President, Mrs. M. E. Batchelder. Vice-President, Mrs. R. N. Dodd. Rec. Secretary, Mrs. Anna Moore. Sec. Secretary, Miss Maggie Earl. Treasurer, Mrs. Frank Stone.

Nine vice-presidents to act in the place of an executive committee were chosen from the different denominations, viz.: Mrs. Earl, Miss Gertrude Dodd, Mrs. S. W. Duffield, Mrs. H. Sutphen, Mrs. Simons, Mrs. Phoebe Pierson, Mrs. Kneivitt, Mrs. Lowrie and Miss Fannie Carl.

A devotional meeting is to be held every Thursday afternoon, the day being set apart for prayer and work. There will be a four-hour meeting, held from one to five, having a different leader for each hour. New York and Newark ladies will be among the leaders.

SILVER LAKE.—A Temperance Meeting will be held in the Hall at Silver Lake to-morrow evening. Mr. Frank, of Silver Lake, will address the meeting.

THE REFORM CLUB.

Library Hall was filled on Tuesday evening with the members and friends of the Reform Club, the President, Mr. Henry Russell, in the chair. A choir of young people, under the leadership of Mr. H. H. Biddulph and Mr. Theodore Ward, sang several of the Moody and Sankey hymns with spirit and sweetness.

Mr. Russell announced that the Club had procured Dodd's Hall for its regular meetings; a fact which was greeted with applause. Rev. S. W. Duffield then read the Scriptures and offered prayer, after which the Chairman introduced Rev. Geo. J. Miggins, of New York, as the speaker of the evening.

Mr. Miggins thereupon gave an address, to which no condensed report can do justice, and which held the audience in close attention for an hour and half. He was both humorous and pathetic, and the only regret which was expressed in our hearing was that the presence of a certain element in the gallery had made it necessary for him to descend a trifle to please their rather unrefined taste. It was plain enough, however, that the speaker knew his ground and his audience and deliberately chose his own method of firing the truth upon those who would not ordinarily have listened to him.

His argument against the traffic was taken from the experience of the City of New York, and an approving reference to the Roosevelt high license bill produced considerable applause.

Mr. Miggins is a man of great natural gifts, and we are not surprised to learn that he preaches to large audiences in the "Union Tabernacle," on Thirty-fifth St., near Broadway, every Sunday.

Organizing a Republican Club.

Pursuant to a call published in THE CITIZEN for two weeks, and posted in various places about town, about twenty-five gentlemen met in Upper Library Hall on Wednesday evening for organization of the Republican party of Bloomfield for the Fall campaign. The meeting was called to order by Mr. Charles M. Davis, President of the old club, after which the following named officers and Executive Committee were elected: President: George W. Cook. Vice-Presidents: John F. Folsom, Walter S. Freeman, E. W. Sutton, Wm. A. Baldwin, J. Banks Reford. Secretary: M. W. Jones. Treasurer: Henry P. Dodd. Executive Committee: Hon. Amzi Dodd, Thomas M. Gorman, Wm. Cadmus, George T. Moore, John Sherman, Nath. H. Dodd, Thomas Oakes, Reuben A. Dodd, Thos. E. Hayes, Thomas P.

Day, A. G. Yearance, C. E. F. Davis, Wm. Coffat, G. Lee Stout, John G. Keyler, Henry Russell, Chas. T. Dodd, D. G. Garabrandt, Lewis K. Dodd, Thos. W. Langstroth, Halsey M. Barrett, Theo. H. Ward, Albert Field, Stan. Farrand, Willard Ridard, Benj. Haskell, Edmund A. Smith, Geo. D. Puffer, Charles M. Davis, A. G. Darwin, John Newton, M. A. Dailey, Grant A. Wheeler, J. M. Bancroft, A. R. Brewer, Fred. H. Carl, James C. Beach, Edmund Oakey, James Berry, J. Howard, Hardcastle, D. W. Smith, Wm. Shephard, Richard Stout, Walter Coggeshall, W. T. Howe, Robt. M. Ball, John Bickler, Theo. Cadmus, Wm. R. Weeks, Richard Hanley.

The Executive Committee was given power to fill vacancies which may be caused by refusal to serve, but it is earnestly hoped that no vacancies will occur. The officers are ex officio members of the Committee. The President has issued a call for the Executive Committee to meet in Upper Library Hall this evening for organization. A full attendance is requested.

Too Many Gin Mills.

At the Temperance meeting held in the First Presbyterian Church on Sunday afternoon Mr. H. Biddulph made a statement which calls for immediate attention. The number of saloons in Bloomfield was set down at thirty-three, which for convenience he called thirty. Their average receipts he figured at what we should call the low figure of $12 per day. This would make $360 a week—excluding Sundays—and would rise to $112,680 a year.

The call is thus directly made upon a Township Committee to investigate both the fact and its remedy. We have men in office who have been chosen by the combined efforts of good citizens; and we have the right to expect that they will deserve well of their constituency.

Some time ago we pointed out (and it was previous to any temperance agitation whatever) that many saloons in Bloomfield were selling without license. We now reassert that every such unlicensed place ought to be once wiped out. More that this we ought also to look to the Township Committee for the strict enforcement of the laws against the renewal of license to any saloons which have disregarded the law in the past or which are dangerous to the community in an acute and immediate sense. None of them are harmless, but some are worse than others.

We do not propose to dictate to our Township Committee. They are good men and know their business, and how to renege with the Court. But it would be advisable for them first of all to ascertain the illegal places and to close these up, and then to resolutely set about shutting off the rest. While the law is as it is there are rights which no citizen dares to disregard however much he may dislike to admit the legality of the traffic. But nothing prevents the sharp and close application of the laws which we already possess.

Thirty-three saloons and fully one hundred and twelve thousand dollars of sales each year are a good deal too much of a bad thing!

Republican State and District Conventions.

To the Bloomfield Citizen: In view of the approaching District Convention (Newark, April 9th), and State Convention (Trenton, April 17th), the following extracts from the Trenton State Gazette would seem to be timely and appropriate.

"NO MACHINE BUSINESS THIS YEAR." It is obvious that the "machine" is making the attempt to stifle, cheat and misrepresent Republican sentiment in the choice of Presidential candidates. Various cunning and dishonest expedients are resorted to to prevent the masses of the party from expressing a choice and exercising their rights. The object is to secure a machine delegation to Chicago that shall represent, not the real and dominant sentiments of the party but the selfish purposes of a few ambitious and scheming politicians.

We frankly and plainly tell the men who are stirring this issue that they are playing with fire. The Republican sentiment is clear, unmistakable and overwhelming. It is not going to permit itself to be trifled with or stifled or cheated. Already, without effort, it is spontaneously asserting itself; and if the feeling spreads among the people that a machine scheme is on foot to defraud and misrepresent them, it will blaze forth and run like a prairie fire from the Delaware to the Ohio.

These are the sentiments of the Republicans of New Jersey, as well as of Pennsylvania. They are the sentiments of the Republicans of every State in the Union. There never has been a time, within our knowledge of current politics, when the Republican party was more sensitive and alert on this subject than it is to-day. The slightest suspicion of an attempt to secure any man's nomination by machine methods would damn him to inevitable defeat. The people are resolved to have their own untrammeled, unbiased, unperverted choice in this important business.

The Republicans of New Jersey propose to send their best and most courageous and trustworthy men to the State Convention. They are determined that that Convention shall be a body of independent and representative Republicans, embodying and fearlessly carrying into effect the dominant sentiments of the party throughout the State, and not merely the plastic and obedient instrument of any set of political managers. They propose to elect men as delegates who will represent and courageously enforce their choice, whether it be for Blaine, Edmunds, Arthur, Logan or Sherman. They do not propose to leave any room for mistake or misconstruction on this point. This is not the year for machine business, and the sooner the political leaders understand this and prepare to fall gracefully in with the views and wishes of the party, the better will it be for all concerned, and especially for the leaders themselves. We do not know that there is anywhere cherished a purpose among any Republican leaders of this State adverse to these views, but if there is, it should be abandoned without delay.

The above we are sure will not only meet with the approval of all true Republicans in National matters, but also in all local issues.

Don't fail to attend the primary on Monday evening next, April 7th, at Upper Library Hall, and send delegates who shall correctly and wisely represent the sentiments of the Republicans of Bloomfield. REPUBLICAN VOTER.

BALLOTS.

How doth the Cautious Candidate Beguile the Shrewd Reporter. By swearing that he won't consent—Because he hadn't order!

Punch's jokes are chokes; but when he gets after a dude Punch's jokes are all chokers.

Some men who used to take a stick in their heels, now, very properly begun to stick to Temperance.

When the old prophet spoke of the "foot of pride" he must have had a vision of French heels.

The Ten Nice fellows are going to have some courts of their own. Will the Ten Nice girls be there too?

Mr. Samuel Green and Miss Fannie Lam have just been married. That, is now, a Spring wedding in which there should be peas.

How can you make a tender of spring poetry when spring lamb is so much tenderer? This is a broad hint to our contributors.

The same gentleman, having lost his dog "Paragraph," found him in a field, double-leaded and with one slug cutting short his best point.

The fellow that clipped his dog's ears and tail called him Paragraph "because," says he, "I've cut him short and brought him to a proper finish."

There's to be another alleged walking-match, and Napoleon Campana is again trying not to come out two feet behind the others. It is also stated that a half-breed Indian is to take his whoop into the garden in order to roll up a record.

Some one has been wicked enough to whisper in our ear that the white elephants have come over in the interest of Pears' soap, and that the ghost of Lydia Pinkham has hired Courtney for the boating season as an example of how to be "Yours for Health," as he certainly spares his'n.

O spring, seraph's season, who Can praise too much thy sweet—ah-choo! Thy sweet and balmy—I declare! Ah-choo! ah-choo!—delightful air; So free from—tschee!—catarrh and chill, And that eternal Liver Pill— There, that'll do!—Ah-choo! ah-choo!!!

About this date look out for the Early Agriculturist. The variety springs up in the first warm weather, and if you pick him up for a greenhorn or a cabbage-head you'll wish you hadn't. He knows the seasons and the suns, but somehow this spring has been too springy for him to catch on to it, and he is now out in the back garden sanning his hands and getting ready to take hold and hang on as soon as he has the chance.
